

Abstract

All Praises are to Allah, and may His Peace and Blessings be upon His chosen servants.

This study is presented to attain a Master's Degree in the Fundamentals of Islamic Jurisprudence from the Department of Law and Islamic Studies at Umm Al-Qura University in Makkah Al-Mukarramah.

Thesis title: "Fundamental principles of jurisprudence in the Hanafi school of thought in the areas of the Qur'an and amended rulings: A Compilation, Theoretical and Practical Analysis"

The goal of this study is to compile the fundamental principles of jurisprudence found in the Hanafi school of thought related to the areas of the Qur'an and amended rulings, as well as to explain each principle and its validity as found in the authentic sources of the Hanafi school, as well as its substantiation, followed by a practical discussion of rulings that can be built upon these principles.

I accomplished these goals through the organization of the study into a preface, an introductory chapter and two main chapters.

In the preface, I mention the importance of this study as well as reasons for its selection and previous studies of relevance, followed by the thesis outline and methodology.

In the introductory chapter, I provide a brief preliminary insight into the Hanafi school of thought and discuss the most important books of fundamentals of jurisprudence therein, as well as the essential tenets upon which rulings are built, and their differing approaches to scholarly authorship.

The first chapter comprises a theoretical discussion of the Qur'an and amended rulings.

The second chapter comprises a practical analysis of those fundamental jurisprudential principles concerning the Qur'an and amended rulings found in the Hanafi school of thought.

This is followed by relevant indices to facilitate the greatest benefit.

I beseech Allah to make this study beneficial knowledge sincerely for His sake alone.
