

The summary of Thesis

Thesis title: The Conflict Between desirability and Measurement [Al estehasn & Al qyas] at the Hanafi madhhab – An Applied and Authentic Study.

Researcher: Mohamed Ibrahim Khaled Hussein.

Degree: Master of Jurisprudence.

The goal of the thesis: to study issues in which desirability and measurement conflicts appear with an analogy in the Hanafi jurisprudence and to explain the fundamental rules related to it from the causes aspects and conditions then the places in which desirability is underlined upon measurement or measurement underlined upon desirability on thesis structure: The thesis came in: introduction preamble two chapters and a conclusion.

The introduction included an indication of the importance of the topic the reasons for choosing it previous studies the objectives of the topic and the research plan.

The preface included the definition of the title of the research and an introduction to the subject of the conflict between desirability and measurement.

The first chapter mentioned the inherent aspect of the conflict between desirability and measurement.

The second chapter was held to show the effect of the discrepancy between approval and measurement.

As for the conclusion it included the most important results that the researcher reached then .recommendations that the researcher considered